

Clarendon College Financial Aid Office 2017-2018 Release of Information Form

Authorization for Release of Confidential Information

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) (20 U.S.C. § 1232g; 34 CFR Part 99) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student education records. The law applies to all schools that receive funds under an applicable program of the U.S. Department of Education.

FERPA gives eligible students certain rights with respect to their education records. (An “eligible student” under FERPA is a student who is 18 years of age or older or who attends a postsecondary institution.)

FERPA permits the disclosure of students’ financial aid records, without consent of the student, if the disclosure meets certain conditions found in §99.31 of the FERPA regulations. A postsecondary institution may only disclose the financial aid records without obtaining prior written consent of the student if it is to:

- Parents of an eligible student if the student is a dependent for IRS tax purposes. (§99.31(a)(8))
- Other school officials, including teachers, within Clarendon College whom the school has determined to have legitimate educational interests.
- Officials of another school where the student seeks or intends to enroll, or where the student is already enrolled if the disclosure is for purposes related to the student’s enrollment or transfer, subject to the requirements of §99.34. (§99.31(a)(2))

In addition, students have the right to review their educational records, to seek to amend inaccurate information in their records, and to provide consent for the disclosure of their records.
