ACADEMIC FREEDOM

Institutions of higher education are conducted for the common good. The following statements rest upon the belief that the common good depends upon a free search for truth and its free expression without intent to do personal harm.

Each faculty member is entitled to freedom in discussing the subject which he/she teaches. Limitations to this basic statement exist only within bounds of common decency and good taste. Each faculty member is also entitled to speak or write as a citizen of his/her nation, state, and community without fear of institutional censorship or discipline.

ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITY

The concept of academic freedom must be accompanied by an equally demanding concept of responsibility, shared by the Board of Regents, administration, and faculty members.

The fundamental responsibilities of a faculty member as a teacher and scholar include maintenance of competence in his/her field of specialization and the exhibition of such competency in lectures, discussions, and publications.

Exercise of professional integrity by a faculty member includes recognition that the public will judge his/her profession and his/her institution by his/her statements. Therefore, he/she should strive to be accurate, to exercise appropriate restraint, to show respect for the opinion of others, and to avoid creating the impression that he/she speaks or acts for his/her college when he/she speaks or acts as a private person.

A faculty member should be selective in the use of controversial material in the classroom and should introduce such material only as it has clear relationship to his/her subject field.
