

CAMS Community Forum and User's Guides

The CAMS Community Forum is a great place to help you learn how to use the CAMS Course Management system for faculty as well as any other issues regarding the CAMS system in which you are interested. Any faculty or staff member from any school using the CAMS system can join the forum.

After you register, you can read about issues that directly affect faculty and even post your own questions and replies to other faculty members using the CAMS system. Also, the detailed Course Management user's guide is available to guide you through the step-by-step instructions you will need as you learn to use the CAMS system for your courses.
